

A camera model is a composition of coordinate transforms, a projection law, and a sampling convention.